"WEST VIRGINIA IS IN HANDS OF FEDERAL GOVERNMENT," CHIEF EXECUTIVE DECLARES

One Killed and Three Injured in Auto Crash

A. McClellan is dead at his home in Flint and Clay Smith and son, Will Smith, are seriously wounded at the Benevolent hospital as a result of an automobile accident at 3:45 o'clock Thursday afternoon when the machine in which they were riding went over the embankment at the curve where the Bee Line highway crosses the Louisville and Nashville railroad tracks, just this side of Flint.

J. W. Smith, another son, was slightly hurt. At the hospital today it was stated that Clay Smith was no better, but that Will Smith is improving. Both were dangerously hurt, it was stated.

According to J. W. Smith the Smiths went to Flint yesterday afternoon to see Mr. McClellan about the purchase of a boiler for a sawmill. Later the four of them got into their machine to go to Crowton, where it was reported there was a boiler for sale.

Clay Smith was driving. His father was not very familiar with the road, Mr. Smith declared, and was not aware that he was so near the curve. "I reminded my father of the narrowness of the curve," Mr. Smith said, "and he slowed down. I suppose he must have been going very nearly 20 miles an hour. As we went off the road I remember the automobile falling and then there seemed a period of blackness. I was stunned. I have a hazy recollection of trying to get something off of me, but I do not know definitely whether I was pinned underneath the car or not. The next thing I remember fully was being to one side of the wreck and several men were on the scene trying to do what they could for us. I told them there was another man with us, (referring to Mr. McClellan). He was pinned under the car."

It was stated that Mr. McClellan's neck was broken and it is believed that he was killed instantly. Clay and Will Smith both were hurt about the head and were severely cut by flying glass. The car was almost totally wrecked. It is said to have somersaulted going off the embankment and to have fallen top downward.

Mr. McClellan was one of the best known residents of Flint and his death came as a great shock to that community, as well as to hundreds of people in the Twin Cities to whom he was well and favorably known. The Smiths are prominent residents of the Danville community, residing a short distance from that city.

Mr. McClellan was 74 years of age. He is survived by his wife and eight children: three sons, J. W., J. J. and G. H. McClellan of Flint; five daughters, Mrs. D. D. Norris of Flint, Mrs. J. E. Howell of Birmingham, Mrs. Elmer Neville of Flint, Mrs. Ruby Bussey of Flint, Miss Ethel McClellan of Flint; two brothers, H. A. McClellan of Flint and J. W. McClellan of Nashville; one sister, Mrs. J. W. Gibson of Albany.

Funeral services for Mr. McClellan will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the Baptist church in Flint, Rev. Ben Collier officiating.

PARIS, Sept. 2.—A newspaper here today printed a report that the ex-Kaiser has escaped from Holland in an airplane. The information was said to have been received from Torino, Italy, in a telephone message.

ANOTHER CITY TO HAVE PLANT FOR CURING POTATOES

BEAR CREEK, Ala., Sept. 2.—Special—At a recent meeting of the farmers of this community definite plans were made, and steps taken toward the construction of a modern 5000 bushel sweet potato storage house, which will be ready before sweet potato digging time this fall.

This meeting was attended by the sweet potato specialist, R. G. Briggs, Auburn, and County Agent J. D. Wood, of Franklin County, who are assisting the farmers of this community until a county agent can be secured for Marion County. Both explained the construction and operation of sweet potato storage houses, following which definite action was taken.

Pickens P. Phillips, a leading farmer, took the lead, and after an investigation found that the farmers of the community were short on cash, but were anxious to work and had an abundance of lumber, and so an arrangement was made for some to furnish lumber, some to do the hauling, and others to construct the house, with the result that the actual money outlay will not be more than $100, which is one of the smallest expenses ever incurred in constructing a storage house of this size in Alabama. It indicates that money is not always the limiting factor in the construction of such houses, provided the farmers have material and are ready to do the work themselves.

DECATUR COUNCIL TALKS OF PLAN TO STRAIGHTEN CREEK

The street committee of the Decatur city council last night was given instructions by the aldermanic body to take up the proposition of straightening Dry Creek through the city park property. The cost of such an undertaking will be ascertained and a report made to the council at an early date. The action of the council followed a report that J. G. Finley has straightened the creek on his property, adjacent to the city property.

The sanitary committee of the council was scheduled to meet today to take up the question of installation of sanitary closets. The meeting follows on the heels of a general discussion of the sanitation situation by the council last night.

Last night's session of the council was the regular meeting and the usual monthly bills were audited and ordered paid and the monthly reports of officers received.

BUNCHING HITS AND ERRORS TWINS GET IT THREE TO ONE IN PENNANT CONTEST

Collection of Bunts in Seventh Inning Sends Miner In-field Into Air

LEROY MAKES DOUBLE PLAY UNASSISTED

Bachelor Holds Visitors at Bay Until Teammates Pile Up Big Lead

The Twins and Miners left today for Russellville to continue their pennant battle with the locals having a big lead as a result of their overwhelming victory yesterday by a count of 8 to 5. As Russell had done the day previous so did Bachelor perform yesterday, holding the Miners safe until his teammates had piled up an insurmountable lead. The Miners made a ninth inning rally yesterday, but they were fighting a losing battle and the locals escaped without serious injury, aided and abetted by an unassisted double play by Leroy, who snagged Cochran's line drive and doubled McLane off second.

Cooper hurled a good game himself, but he permitted bunched hits in one inning, and aided in his downfall by a wild throw in the seventh. The Twins sent the visiting infield in the air with bunts and six runs were counted on three hits.

Umpire Lauson chased Joe Johnston in the fourth inning for disputing decisions on balls and strikes and thereby earned the wholesome disrespect of the local fans who razed him considerably during the matinee.

After two were gone Gilliland's error paved the way for the first Russellville marker, when Acton went safe as Gillie juggled the former's roller. Cochran doubled to left and Acton scored.

The Twins evened the count in the second. Gilliland was hit by a pitched ball and scored on Lauderman's long triple to right center. The clan of McDuff went into the lead in the third. With one out, Leroy tripled to right and McClain squeezed him home.

It was the fifth before Russellville was able to tie. McLane stroled and scored on Cochran's long single to center, which was handled poorly on the relay.

Then the bloody seventh rolled around and the Twins put the game safely away. Shelton opened with a one-ply drive to right. Gilliland bunted along the third base line and beat it out. Lauderman sacrificed, but Cooper threw the ball to the stands back of first and Shelton scored, Gilliland stopping at third and Lauderman at second. Lewis walked. Bachelor hit to Lowry and the latter threw over Doyle's head, Gilliland and Lauderman scoring, Lewis going to third and Bachelor to second.

Leroy sent Bach and Lewis home

OBREGON'S STAND PRAISED BY PRESS

(International News Service)
MEXICO CITY, Sept. 2.—President Obregon's message to congress in which he said the Mexican government would not sign a treaty with the United States until it was recognized was praised by the press here today. The President's declaration was in line with previous statements he had made to the effect that Mexico will insist upon impartial treatment and entire absence of anything savoring of coercion.

The President reiterated his declaration that Mexico will pay all her foreign debts and claims arising from property damage caused by revolution.

Wrangle on Taxes Finally Settled

(Montgomery Bureau Albany-Decatur Daily.)
MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 2.—All differences between the state and the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company and subsidiary organizations regarding assessments for taxation for 1920 have been settled and within the next ten days the companies will pay into the state treasury approximately $260,000 covering taxes due the state on property in twelve counties. This announcement was made by John S. Mooring, chairman of the state tax commission, on his return from Birmingham Thursday.

Two Officers Filled By G. O. P. Majority

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Decatur Daily.)
MONTGOMERY, Sept. 2.—Julius P. Knabe and Major E. E. Winters, who were faithful to the republican party in the last campaign, became respectively register of the land office and receiver of public money for the federal government in Montgomery Thursday. Mr. Knabe succeeded Cato D. Glover while Major Winters took the place vacated by Col. John S. Hunter, who supported the democratic ticket.

Col. Hunter was a Confederate soldier during the war between the states, while Major Winters was in the Union army. He and Mr. Glover had held their positions since Woodrow Wilson became president eight years ago.

New Agencies Set To Worthy Task

KIWANIS PLAN TO AID FORD OFFER FOR THE SHOALS

The Morgan Kiwanis club, at its weekly luncheon Thursday, discussed plans for aiding the development of Muscle Shoals by urging the acceptance of the bid of Henry Ford for the property.

The Kiwanis plan to get all civic organizations in the nation, chambers of commerce, Kiwanis, Rotary, Civitan and other organizations interested in the project in order that the Shoals proposition may be put forward in its true light.

The Kiwanis also discussed the plan of having all business men write eastern, western and northern connections, urging them to get behind the project.

Two Officers to Face Impeachment

CONCORD, N. C., Sept. 2.—Impeachment proceedings against Sheriff Carl Spears and Chief of Police Robinson were expected to be sought today following a conference of Concord citizens with Governor Morrison at Charlotte.

The citizens are understood to have threatened to resort to the courts to remove Spears and Robinson from office because of their alleged failure to take steps to prevent disorders in connection with the strike at the textile mills.

WAR GRAFTERS NOW HAVE WAY PAVED TO MAKE GET-AWAY ON A LIMITATION PLAN

Quick Action by Congress Necessary to Prevent Plea Standing

LEGAL EXPERTS SIFT RECORDS OF GRAFTERS

Present Statutes Provide for Halting of Prosecution in Three Years

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—War grafters who are alleged to have defrauded the government out of hundreds of millions of dollars, today had paved the way for a clean-get-away. All of the alleged grafters will be beyond criminal prosecution unless congress quickly acts and raises the statute of limitation from 3 to 6 years it was stated at the department of justice. Today legal experts were sifting the records bearing upon the guilt of some of the biggest offenders trying to establish that overt acts were committed less than three years ago. Those who were to become defendants in criminal actions now have outwitted the government with a plea that their alleged offense was committed more than three years ago, and now are not subject to any action which the government may bring under the immunity which the government's tardiness has given them.

Attorney General Daugherty's next step will be a special plea for speedy action by congress to pass the bill of Senator New, of Indiana, making it impossible for a defendant to escape liability for his acts within six years after their commission. Such action by congress, however, will only serve to allow the government to go ahead with those cases now pending which may be affected later on by the statute of limitations.

ANOTHER PLAN TO HELP SHOALS BID GIVEN BY C. OF C.

W. W. Rahm, president of the Albany chamber of commerce, announced this morning that every merchant in the Twin Cities, no matter how large or how small, will receive a letter from the chamber of commerce asking him to write his wholesale merchant or jobber and request their assistance in showing the benefits to be derived from pushing to completion the Wilson dam and seeking their cooperation on the Ford bid.

"The amount of merchandise shipped into North Alabama for distribution is beyond all comprehension," Mr. Rahm declared, "and it is easily to be seen how much more can be handled if the project is completed."

"There can be no doubt that this will prove a valuable link in the chain for the Ford plan if put to work promptly and it is hoped that every merchant will write to each of the people from whom he buys merchandise a personal letter. I cannot see how any merchant would delay this movement one minute for it is the most essential that has been started for some time."

Miners Attack Logan Border At All Points

(International News Service)
CHARLESTON, West Va., Sept. 2.—"The state of West Virginia now is in the hands of the federal government," Governor Morgan announced this afternoon. Martial law now practically exists, the Governor said.

The Governor issued a proclamation announcing that the officers of the United States army now were in charge and all peace officers and citizens were ordered to obey the regulations which are immediately to be promulgated by General Bandholtz.

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—No decision has yet been reached to declare martial law in West Virginia, Secretary Weeks announced this afternoon following a cabinet meeting. The proclamation now depends on the recommendations of General Bandholtz. The Secretary indicated that a proclamation of martial law may be held up until General Bandholtz asks for it.

Special agents of the department of justice at present are in the West Virginia coal fields and are understood to be gathering evidence to be used in possible government action against the instigators of the uprisings among the miners, it was learned at the department of justice today.

FIRST UPRISING

(International News Service)
WILLIAMSON, West Va., Sept. 2.—The first uprising in Mingo county since the battle opened along the Boone-Logan county line was reported to Sheriff A. C. Pinson early today. A number of men had slipped across the Tug river from Kermit into Martin county, Ky., and had organized there.

The band then recrossed into West Virginia and started in the direction of Logan through Wayne county, Sheriff Pinson had two forces of men out trying to intercept the band.

MINERS DISPERSED

(International News Service)
UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept. 2.—Following receipt of word that 2,000 striking miners had assembled at Allison, near here, and were planning to march on several independent mines, Sheriff L. I. Shaw and a detachment of state police, armed with rifles and a machine gun, early today hurried to Allison and dispersed the miners before they began their march.

There has been more or less miners' trouble in this region for the past two weeks.

ASSAULT LAUNCHED

(International News Service)
LOGAN, West Va., Sept. 2.—Miners are assaulting the Logan border at every point. The fighting is the heaviest since the miners massed for their invasion of Logan county. A twenty-five mile half circle around Logan courthouse was under terrific machine gun and rifle fire at noon.

The miners have been repeatedly repulsed, but were continuing their efforts to dislodge the Loganites from the ridges and commanding points back of the mountain passes. Browning automatic rifles and machine guns were rushed to Blair mountain, Crooked Creek and Mill Creek. More reinforcements arrived this afternoon and are being thrown into the conflict.

Casualties have occurred at all points. Six prisoners were captured by the Loganites at Blair mountain this morning. The fighting is especially severe in the Mill Creek district. Reports received at the Governor's office said that the defenders are holding off the invaders.

Aerial bombs were dropped by Logan defense airplanes today. The bombs caused a hasty retreat of miners from the Hewitt's Creek concentration camp. The bombs fell near houses occupied by members of the miners army.

Two planes were in action and four bombs were dropped. The miners swarming at many points on the 25 mile front, threatened hourly to smash through the line.

The President's proclamation was nothing more than a scrap of paper. The miners sullenly rejected it and continued to drive additional men to the border. Casualties are known to have occurred last night and today but because of the confusion and darkness it has been impossible to verify any of the reports.

Boys of 14 years have been pressed into service. Old men of eighty are shouldering rifles and doing their turn at guard in the front line positions. Veterans of the civil war who were in the famous Logan border rangers which fought in the civil war are under arms again. One of them, a man of 78 years, was in an observation post last night. An effort was made to burn and dynamite the Chesapeake and Ohio bridge on the Guyan Valley division at Big Creek early today. The attempt was frustrated.

If the bridge had been destroyed the only railroad communication to Logan would have been cut off. This would have prevented the arrival of supplies and caused a big delay in the dispatch of government troops.

TROOPS ENROUTE
WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Troops are now enroute to West Virginia to disperse the armed bands of miners who are threatening an invasion of the Mingo county coal regions there.

Major General Harbord, chief of staff, announced that he has ordered the nineteenth infantry from Camp Sherman, O., and the twenty-sixth infantry from Camp Dix, N. J., to proceed immediately to West Virginia in response to a request from General Bandholtz, representative of the President in West Virginia.

The action was taken without awaiting the proclamation of martial law. The lack of a proclamation of martial law will not interfere with the movement and operation of the troops, General Harbord said.

A telegram received from General Bandholtz early today declared that the armed forces were not indicating any attempt to disperse and that the situation appeared to be critical with immediate need for troops.

The soldiers should reach the disordered regions about noon. The troops now enroute are under orders to proceed to Charleston, West Va., where their commanding officers will report to General Bandholtz who will take over the command and dispose of the forces as he sees fit. A squadron of airplanes is now based at Charleston and General Bandholtz may use these forces as he desires. The war department has ordered a supply of tear gas bombs sent to Charleston and if the commanding officer chooses he may attempt to employ this method of dispersing the mob. All forces are carrying large stores of ammunition and supplies.

While no official announcement has been made it is understood that federal troops are enroute to West Virginia.

COULD NOT RESTRAIN THEMSELVES;
GERMAN MONARCHISTS IN BAD

Following the brutal murder of Mathias Erzberger, supposedly by German monarchists, the supporters of popular government in the Fatherland staged a great counter demonstration.

Led by lovers of liberty, the Junker element has been denounced, their policemen beaten and the Royalists mobbed right and left. The assassination of Erzberger, who was a chief leader of the new democracy in Germany, recalled to the minds of the German masses, all the brutalities, insults and indignities the common people had to submit to, under the military rule of their Kings and Emperors. Prior to the murder of Erzberger, the Royalists were in a fair way to gain the confidence and support of the masses of the people. Seeing the republic, that followed the defeat of the German armies, was not an evolution—not the direct work of the people themselves, but rather a makeshift forced upon Germany by the fortunes of war, there remained a strong possibility of a return of the peaceful quiet days of the Empire.

The people had not demanded representative government. They did not care for it. For generations the people had thought of their royal government with reverence. They associated law, order and prosperity with its workings. And when the war left their country broken financially, turbulent and distressed beyond measure, there was a strong natural tendency to look for a return of the quiet days and prosperity of the old empire. Had the monarchists bided their time, and exercised due patience, they had an excellent chance of a return to power. Never, following a great revolution, resulting in the destruction of a throne and dynasty, were the supporters of the old defeated regime treated with such marked consideration as was the case in Germany, when the republican leaders assumed power at Berlin.

Perhaps the Junkers were incapable of appreciating good treatment, and that they took the consideration shown them as evidence of a weak servility. Evidently, such was the case. In the last few months the reported speeches of the monarchists in Germany showed that they looked with supreme contempt upon the common people, just as was their wont before the war, that well-neigh destroyed Germany.

The Junkers seemed unable to learn a new idea, or to forget the old ones. They did not believe their people could respect any power save force, just as they, themselves were amenable only to force. They believed they could terrorize the common people of Germany, although they failed to terrorize the peoples of other nations during the war. Evidently, the haughty Junkers had no realization of the power of martyrdom. They did not realize that a popular leader dead, is a greater support to popular government than many living unmolested leaders. But the popular uprising of the German people against their tyranny has taught the Junkers, some wholesome truths, and if the republican leaders are wise, they will never suffer the people to forget the recent monarchist's plot that ended in the murder of Erzberger. The new government at Berlin has been giving the monarchist regime a plenty of latitude, and like all tyrannical people they have promptly taken the rope given them, and used it to hang themselves. One of the greatest safe guards of popular government is that its enemies, when given rope enough generally use it promptly, for purposes of self destruction. Royalist Haman was hanged on the same gallows that he had prepared for the despised Mordecai.

COMING OUT OF EUROPE

The proposed recall of the American troops from the allied army of occupation on the Rhine, as a corollary of the Republican peace with Germany, has been received with mixed feelings in this country and with something of resentment by the other signatories to the Versailles treaty. European powers look upon it as a breach of faith, marking the end of the war for America, but at the same time marking the end of American influence in their affairs. Some authorities seem to see a possible embarrassment for this country in the future if Germany repudiates continuation of the economic and reparations clauses of the treaty as they affect America and the Allies take the position that it is no concern of theirs, since America refused to continue a party to the peace covenant.

and withdrawal of the American forces from Germany will have on the forthcoming disarmament conference in Washington remains to be seen. It is possible it will have a good effect in establishing the sincerity of the United States as the originator of the conference. Under this view it is less a repudiation of the allied nations than a measure dictated by the long-established principle in American government to avoid entangling alliances in Europe.

America was forced into the European war to restore peace to the world and to safeguard its own interests, however, and its part in the sequel can not be lightly cast aside from sentiment, as an evasion of responsibility or for political reasons. If by the American withdrawal Germany is emboldened to evade her further obligations, the present administration in Washington will be responsible for a situation in which the whole economic structure of Europe will be placed in worse shape than it is today. What such a condition would mean to American business may be determined for the length of time it has taken since the war closed to establish even partial credits in Europe for American exports.

It took the United States a long time to get into European affairs. The Republican administration considers that we can get out overnight and no harm will be done, but events may shape themselves in Europe within a month or a year to make the administration regret its haste in breaking the international pact which seemed at the time it was made, and still seems to assure the gradual restoration of the world's business and the ultimate co-operation of nations for the world's security.—Montgomery Advertiser.

GEN. CROWDER IN CUBA

General Enoch H. Crowder, who went originally to Cuba as the representative of President Wilson to study political and economic conditions and lend a helping hand to the Cuban government, appears to be wearing out his welcome. Yet President Zayas on taking office asked him to stay. In no respect is General Crowder at fault if Cuban regard for him is less than it was. The waning of his popularity is the result of hard times in Cuba and of fears that it may be necessary for the United States to intervene to save the country from financial ruin. General Crowder has done his advisory work with the intelligence of a specialist and with discretion. In Cuban politics he has been strictly neutral. La Lucha the other day complained of his "systematic silence," declaring that it was "susceptible of false and actually alarming interpretations." Of course, it is for the State Department to reassure the Cubans if they are suspicious. The special envoy is not expected to speak of the policy of his government. There is an American minister at Havana for that purpose. It is beyond the power of any statesman or economist to relieve Cuba at one stroke. Her financial problem—she has a crippling deficit and a treasury almost empty—can be solved only by long-time adjustments, economy in administration, a sound tariff policy, gradual liquidation and conservative measures to revive industry. Unemployment in Cuba, owing largely to conditions of the sugar and tobacco industries, is general. Want has followed the extravagance of the war period. In the country districts the people have not enough to eat. Demagogues have put the blame for Cuba's prostration upon the United States, charging that it resulted from the fixing of prices for sugar by the American Government during the war. The price was well above the average, but the Cubans were dissatisfied with it.

A people suffering acutely from hard times, and holding a protecting government under another flag responsible, also suspecting that government of designs upon their independence, however unjustly, are naturally sensitive to any appearance of control of the domestic affairs, Platt amendment or no Platt amendment. Even General Crowder is now looked upon with distrust. Also, the long stay of American marines in Camaguey is resented. There are reports of dissatisfaction with the Zayas Government. Washington fortunately has no desire to recall General Crowder, although he was inherited from Wilson. No man knows Cubans better. He is the right man for the present emergency.—New York Times.

The many casualties suggests that it would be well to name all flying craft "X", since they are still an unknown quantity.

If human nature were not so made that a little pessimism goes a long way, that it takes more optimism than can possibly be produced to go around, we would be doing more business than Barnum and Bailey.

There is no doubt whatsoever, that the business we desire is just around the corner. The trouble seems to be to cover the distance to the said corner. Advertising that will create demand is the first, last and all the intervening steps.

Yield of 465,000 Bales Forecast by
Gist for Alabama for This Season

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 2. — Special—Based on a condition of fifty-three per cent as announced by the bureau of crop reporting at Washington Thursday, F. W. Gist, agricultural statistician, estimated that the probable total production of cotton in Alabama this year will be 465,000 bales. The total crop last year was 663,000 bales and this estimate indicates a reduction of 198,000 bales.

"The condition of 53 per cent of normal for cotton in Alabama, found officially and issued today by the Washington office of the crop reporting service, means a probable total production in this state this year of 465,000 bales," said the official statement of Mr. Gist when the report from Washington was received. "The crop last year was 663,000 bales. The condition found indicates an acre yield of 111 pounds, which on the acreage of 2,290,000 planted would result in the number of bales indicated, after allowing for an abandonment of one per cent of the acreage planted.

"The condition a month ago in this state was 53 per cent of normal and the indicated crop was 440,000 bales therefore the deterioration during August was not as great as usual. The weather was well night perfect over most of the state and weevil damage was not so heavy as was feared early in the season. Some improvement was shown in the south central counties and in the Tennessee valley.

"It is understood, of course, that conditions must remain as they are until harvest is completed in order to realize the crop indicated. If the weevil proves more damaging than is now in prospect or if weather conditions do not keep the present fruiting intact the final out-turn may be less than present prospects.

"The following statement shows the condition in various sections of the state: Northwest, 55; Tennessee Valley, 61; mineral, 49; northwest, 53; blackbelt west, 44; blackbelt east, 54; east central, 49; southwest, 47; south central, 62; southeast, 50; the state, 53."

eral troops will have to be thrown into the disaffected district along the Chesapeake and Ohio Coal river branch, which would have the effect of stopping all gaps through which miners have been going into the district.

This would place them in the rear of the miners. Military authorities have let it be known that no half-way measures will be used, once the troops are sent, but that peace will be restored in the shortest possible time and the most effective means to achieve that end will be used.

A NEW SOFT COLLAR

Supply of Van Heusens in

Des Moines Below Demand

Special to Daily News Record

Des Moines, La., Aug. 30. — Van Heusen collars have created a big splash in Des Moines. After waiting seven months shipments arrived a few days ago to all department, clothing and haberdashery stores in the city, and within a few hours some stores were sold out.

"I ordered five styles and about 100 dozen collars in all," said one haberdasher, "and I received two styles and a total of about 15 dozen collars. They lasted me a day and a half."

About half the men one sees are wearing the new collars, for a hot sultry spell has made soft collars particularly appealing. Signs advertising the collars are spotted in every store handling men's wear, and all newspaper ads also mention them.

Young Vantreese enlisted in the Marine Corps in June, 1920, and was transferred to the Marine Post at Quantico, Va. He is now stationed in Washington, D. Hartselle News

HARTSELLE, Ala., Sept. 1.—Special—A memorial arch, to commemorate the lives and deeds of the soldier dead who gave their all in the great war, is being erected on the Bee Line highway just north of town at the corporation line, by the Girl's Club of the town.

Early last year the club decided to give entertainments to secure funds with which to install a swimming pool. This plan was abandoned and the arch is being constructed with the funds in hand.

This lasting monument that will stand for all time to come to remind those who come after, of the unselfish and loyal patriotism of the soldier dead of the South, and this country in particular, is being built of white sandstone quarried near town.

The base on either side of the highway will be five feet square, the top being two feet square, and sixteen feet tall.

Across the two piers will be constructed a concrete reinforced arch upon which suitable words memorializing the dead will be inscribed.

The club is being congratulated on their decision to spend the funds in hand on such a worthy object, one that will remind the thousands that annually pass this way of those who made the supreme sacrifice that the world might be a better place in which to live.

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanne Price

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Here is more and drastic refutation of those who claim New York is heartless and un-given to helping out a neighbor. A sizeable and weary family walked into the subway train Sunday evening, evidently returning home from an all day visit somewhere. Father, mother, and four children, they were, and the youngest was a babe in arms. The baby began to cry—loudly and resentfully. A young man across the aisle decided to try amusing it by making faces. It worked! The infant stopped almost instantly and smiled through its tears. In a few minutes the amiable young man turned to continue a conversation he had been holding with his companion. The baby opened its mouth once more and howled. Whereupon the mother leaned across. "Young man," she said, "Will you please make funny faces at my baby once more. We get off at the next station." So until the next station was reached, the poor youth leaned forward and made faces at the baby for the sake of the tired mother and the whole carload of peace-desiring people.

Candles—real candles, not electric imitations—are back! Dealers say the demand for them in New York has increased 200 per cent in the last four years and a large part of that increase has come in recent months. The reason? No one knows. Maybe our lighting methods have been made so perfect that nothing was left for the ambitious-to-be-different hostess except to go back to primitive ways. The newest fashionably furnished apartments are being fitted with candleabra holding real candles; they appear on the table at the head of the bed in the smartest hotels; and you find them completely supplanting the brilliant electric lighting at dinner parties.

The only remaining relic in New York City of the days when we were subjects of the British throne is the crest of the Prince of Wales carved in wood over the pulpit of old St. Paul's in lower Broadway. The famous three feathers were placed there a century and half ago, when prayers were said there for the King and royal family, as they are now for the welfare of the President and other constituted authorities of the Republic.

Marcus Loew opened his costliest and finest theater the other night; The State, in the new Loew building, Broadway and Forty-fifth street. It will have continuous performances of vaudeville and motion pictures, as in the other Loew theaters. Over 150 stage and screen stars gathered for the opening.

"Six Cylinder Love", in which Ernest Truex is starring at the Sam H. Harris theater, is predicted by the critics to be in for a solid or two of New York run. It is generally picked as the hit of the new season to date.

HARTSELLE NEWS

HARTSELLE, Ala., Sept. 2.—Special.—A family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Brud Gibson in the old Cedar Plains neighborhood yesterday, that brought together all the living members of that family, with the grand-children and great-grandchildren to the number of 39. Mr. Gibson is 84 years of age, and his wife is 82. Both of these old people are invalids, suffering from paralysis.

The large grove in front of the home was arranged with tables, upon which was spread one of the finest meals consisting of that well prepared country style cooking, which has never been improved upon.

Uncle "Bud" as he is familiarly called by his large circle of friends was in a happy mood as he looked out upon his stalwart sons and their children, and their children's children.

They were the recipients of many little tokens of remembrances, and good wishes expressed to them were lavish indeed.

The Gibson family of which there are many in that particular neighborhood, were the early settlers of that country, and their name is a synonym of good citizenship and uprightness.

WELLS WELCOMED BY BUSINESS MEN

J. O. Wells, head of the Iron Clad hosiery mills, a branch of which recently was established here, was cordially welcomed by Albany business men at a luncheon at noon Thursday in the rooms of the Albany chamber of commerce. The luncheon was given by the directors of the chamber of commerce and W. W. Rahm, president of the organization, presided. It was attended by about 15 representative business men.

Short addresses of welcome were delivered by all of those present and Mr. Wells responded cordially, declaring that the selection of Albany as a site for the local branch was made in competition with six other available sites.

He declared the best strategic location was here and predicted a very bright future for this community.

SHIRLEY MASON IN
"GIRL OF MY HEART"
DELITE FRIDAY

"Abandon Hope, All Ye Who Enter Here!"
This warning, scribbled on cardboard and tacked on the gateway of an orphanage by one of the little inmates, starts the action in "Girl of My Heart," which William Fox is to present at the Delite Theater next Friday with Shirley Mason as the star.

"Girl of My Heart," adapted from Frances Marion Mitchell's novel "Joan of Rainbow Springs," tells the story of Joan, a little waif who was ousted by the trustees of the orphanage for writing the foregoing sign, and sent to the guardianship of an old woman—whose constant abuse caused her to run away.

How she accidentally met a young Southerner, whom she prevented from taking his own life because of ill-health; her subsequent experiences as this man's adopted sister and with his old maid aunt; and her development from adopted sister into sweetheart—all this and more is told in what is described as an exceedingly dramatic story. Indian life figures largely in the tale.

Shirley Mason as little Joan is said to give a most charming impersonation. Others in the cast include Raymond McKee as leading man; Martha Mattox, Al Fremont, Calvin Weller, Hooper Toler and Cecil Vanauker. Edward J. Le Saint staged the production.

"A NIGHT IN PARIS"
"A Night in Paris" consisting of vaudeville and musical comedy, will be presented tonight at the Princess theatre by local people to the number of forty. A feature of the entertainment will be the "Alabama Four" quartette which will render several splendid musical numbers. This entertainment will be given under the auspices of the Barber's Union and the proceeds will go to the barber's union sick fund and to the West Side Presbyterian church.

"THE SPENDERS"
PRINCESS SATURDAY
An array of gorgeous costumes, the latest creation worn by New York's upper circle of society, bewildering and fascinating in number and variety, is a feature of Benjamin B. Hampton's great photoplay, "The Spenders," that will delight the women spectators—and men who have an artistic eye for feminine apparel. Just one look at the costumes worn by the guests at some of these splendid social functions will show the title of "The Spenders" is amply justified.

As a delicious comedy drama depicting the life of representative notables in New York's high society and financial circles, "The Spenders" displays the highest and most striking examples of the costumer's art, bedecking the forms of many beautiful women. "The Spenders" is adapted from the novel by Harry Leon Wilson. In the cast are Claire Adams, Robert McKim, Joseph J. Dowling, Niles Welch, Betty Brice, Adele Farrington, Virginia Harris, Tom Ricketts, Harry Holland and Otto Lederer.

It is released by the W. W. Hodgkinson Corporation and is announced as the Chief attraction next Saturday at the Princess Theater.

COTTON MARKET STILL GOES STRONG

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—The cotton market had another big opening today and showed an advance of from 26 to 40 points on first sales. This was followed by further sharp upturns after the call on heavy continental and Liverpool buying, to which was added commission house buying on a big scale. All months but October were above the 18 cent level this morning.

Trade buying also was in evidence at the start, while Liverpool cables showed pronounced strength. The selling mostly was from the South and from long's taking profits over the holiday. At the end of the first fifteen minutes' trading the market was active and strong at about 5 to 7 points net higher on December contracts.

AUBURN NEWS

AUBURN, Ala., Sept. 2 (Special)
—The thirty Dallas County farmers who recently took an automobile trip with County Agent John Blake through Lowndes, Montgomery, and Crenshaw counties to visit the farmers and business men of Covington county to learn their methods of farming and doing business, were greatly impressed with at least four things which they saw.

In the first place they were met at Andalusia by J. P. Wilson, County Agent for Covington county, and representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, where they found practically ideal relationship existing between the business men of Andalusia and the farmers of the county. The business men realize that their prosperity rests on the prosperity of the farmers, and on the other hand the farmers realize that the business men are just as essential.

Another thing with which they were very much impressed was that the cultivated lands of Covington County are richer than the uncultured land, as the result of the use of velvet beans, peanuts, and livestock. They also saw less cotton, but a large acreage in corn inter-planted with peanuts for hogging down, thereby saving labor and at the same time maintaining or improving the fertility of the lands; and, to make possible the management of livestock, they found that practically all of the fields of Covington county were fenced.

After seeing these things themselves, Mr. Blake reports that the Dallas county farmers are now in for more legumes, to add to their dairying, and all are unanimous in agreeing that the trip was not only pleasant but very profitable from the standpoint of time and expenses.
